2014 Annual Report

(unaudited)

The end of the year marks a period of reflection for us at Today House. It's a cue for us to ask ourselves what we've achieved in the last year and to evaluate how far we've come in reaching our goals.

This year I find myself asking what success looks like for Today House. I've always said that a quieter night is a good indicator that, perhaps, fewer people are sleeping on the streets of Steinbach for the night. That is success! But is it enough to only count how many people walked through our doors this year? In truth, success transcends numbers. We are an organization that works with people and success for us must be measured in our ability to bring meaningful change to the lives of the people we serve.

As an organization, we remain extremely appreciative of the work done by all community agencies that support those at risk or experiencing homelessness. These agencies are staffed by front-line volunteers and workers driven by compassion; they have shown tremendous persistence in achieving goals that can, at times, seem impossible. In partnership with these dedicated organizations, the staff, volunteers and Board of Today House will continue to act in the best interests of homeless men and women in our community, regardless of the pressures and challenges we face.

The solutions to homelessness are as diverse as homelessness itself, and we all have a role to play. I want to thank all of you who have played a major generous role with your support to end homelessness.

So, with measuring success in mind, I strongly believe that Today House did have a successful year. We were impacted by countless selfless supporters and touched by smiles and many thanks from the homeless we provided safe shelter to for a night....

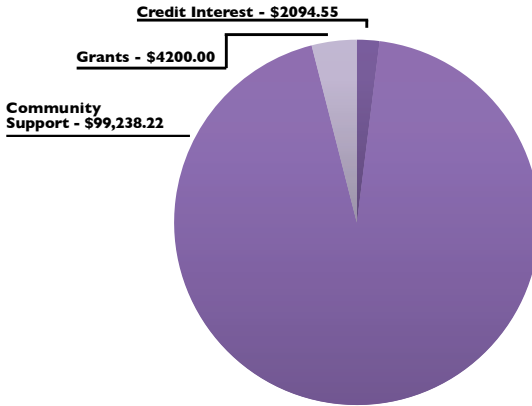

It's hard to have hope when you don't have a home.....Today House strives to continue to offer hope.

Warm regards,

Simone Penner
